Dear Jim:

I wanted to thank you and Ed Grasso for introducing our shop to SmartWeight. This has already been a great investment for our dealership and our technicians love it. After using Smart Weight for just a couple of weeks, we were sold on its speed and ease of use. We are a high volume store and value any equipment that can save our technician's time and our service department money. This is just another example of the quality automotive service products that Hunter offers. We have multiple shops and have been extremely pleased with everything we've purchased from Hunter Engineering. Having great service doesn't hurt either!

Please feel free to contact me for additional information regarding my experience with this incredible product.

Thank you,

Ken McFadyen
